

Emberyx

Emberyx's scales shimmer in hues of molten orange and ruby red, the colors clashing in a vibrant display. Lava surges through her veins, the heat distorting the air around her, causing it to crackle and smoke with pure chaotic energy. A molten inferno drips from her gaping maw, her ferocious teeth glistening with heat and dark viscous blood, swirling with heat. Her eyes shine like molten headlights, causing anything she fixates on to erupt into a powerful supernova of heat. Horns jut from the top of her head, black and jagged, their obsidian points glistening in the light, like newly sharpened daggers. Flames swirl inside her mouth, a roaring inferno, glowing like a miniature supernova, scorching anything in sight. Heat surges from her body, causing the air around her to shimmer like a desert mirage.